

WANTED: new Director for CoE

~ to keep the fire
~ hold the light

The Winter Solstice of 2012 is a time of immense promise in the life of Children of the Earth. This is a moment of uncertainty, wonder, hope, change and renewal. Let us celebrate the still point as one humanity. Then, drawing from the diverse sacred traditions which transcend time, may we turn and move forward to light the way of Peacemakers worldwide.

Nina Meyerhof has been the inspiration, the seeder, the builder, the connector and the visionary of Children of the Earth for over 25 years. She is now ready to pass on this TORCH of Hope. Are you someone who will take this torch?

Children of the Earth is an international organization based on principles, guidelines and ethics to further the love and unity which exist in PEACE. It all started with the "Declaration for Peace" by young people focusing on the Rights of Children. The voices of these and other youth were listened to at the United Nations World Summit for Children in 1990. Children of the Earth has continued to enable the voices of children and youth, not only at the United Nations but in many other venues around the world. It has grown into a living organization comprised of over 15,000 young people, inspired to co-create PEACE through Spiritual Activism. The emerging process calls for Inner Revolution for Social Evolution!

Children of the Earth inspires the world's youth, bringing them together to build inner and outer peace, lasting peace, everywhere. A passionate, dedicated Administrative Director is needed to keep the organization alive, growing and moving forward. The ideal person is a dreamer, a builder, an administrator, a networker, a fundraiser, a technocrat, an educator, a world traveler and a business savvy person. The person selected will work closely with Nina as she withdraws to an emeritus position.

Of course this is possible.... It might be YOU. Think carefully on all your talents.....revealed and hidden...speak to yourself of your dreams. If you can imagine leading an important rising organization that has been pioneering dreams and new realities for young people, then consider yourself a champion and contact us.

As CoE's new leader, you will work with a TEAM of CORE young people from around the world. The world will be your home and your home will be wherever you are living.

There is much to be done. Creativity reigns.

If interested in discussing or applying for this position, send your CV or resume to nina@coeworld.org no later than January 31, 2013.
